

LISTENING ARTS: AN INVITATION TO SHARE

Hello Friends! How are you? It's been a while. I'd like to share with you a new poem, On Listening, and a new opportunity to share your listening-inspired creative works. This poem seemed, as it took shape, to have the ring of a little listening meditation. I hope you enjoy it.

On Listening

A Call for Submissions of Listening-Inspired Poetry and Visual Arts

Would you like to contribute to an anthology of listening-themed poetry and visual arts? Previously published works are welcome. You're also invited to create poetry inspired by the poetry prompts at the Listeners Unite website.

- Submissions are open now through November 15, 2022.
- Please send up to five poems and/or up to five visual works of art.
- Poetry: For inspiration on the listening theme, visit the Poetry Prompts page!
- Visual Arts: Visual artists may include a brief artist's statement.
- For full guidelines, please visit An Invitation to Share at www.ListenersUnite.com.

This will be a digital anthology, available for free, published in 2023.
Thank you for listening. I hope to hear from you! :)
